SHANK: A RUTTER FOR ANCHORAGES IN TASMANIA'S SOUTHWEST

JOHNSTON 77557

For anyone planning a cruise to the exposed south and west coast of Tasmania safety of those on-board is paramount and you need to do a substantial amount of planning and research prior to slipping your lines. The Shank provides detailed sketches and superb aerial photography of some great anchorages that people may not normally consider. In the right weather conditions these anchorages can now be more easily accessed and will add to the already unique experience cruising this magnificent coastline. Ian and Andrew have crafted a 'Rutter' that captures the absolute beauty of the rugged south and west coast with The Shank. This is an anchorage guide with a difference and complements those guides already available. A must have for anyone considering cruising from Recherche Bay to Port Davey and beyond to Macquarie Harbour.

ENDEAVOUR: THE SHIP AND THE ATTITUDE THAT CHANGED THE WORLD

MOORE 2714

No one has ever told Endeavour's complete story before. Peter Moore sets out to explore the different lives of this remarkable ship, from the acorn that grew into the oak that made her, to her rich and complex legacy. According to Charles Darwin, she helped Cook add a hemisphere to the civilised world. NASA named a space shuttle after her. To others she would be a toxic symbol, responsible for the dispossession of the oldest continuous human society and the disruption of many others.

BEST ADRIATIC ANCHORAGES

KARLIC 0058

Anyone who has at least once hired a sailboat, catamaran or motor boat in Croatia, knows how important it is to find the right cove or bay for anchoring and mooring. Sailors and Navigation experts enjoy the sailing on the Adriatic and prefer anchorages with small hidden and protected bays, where it can be enjoyed in and peace and an unspoiled nature. The nicest feeling is when you find a new anchorage by yourself, but for many charterer is much easier to know everything about the anchorage in advance. Whether you cruising in Istria, Kvarner or Dalmatia, you will certainly find some interesting anchorage with descriptions, photos and recommendation of what you can see in the vicinity.

STORIES

BLUE WATER WARRIORS

HARRIS 0921

Blue Water Warriors tells the story of the early Sydney to Hobart yacht races. Drawing on log books and memories of the navigator on a legendary competing yacht, a living part of Australia's maritime history. The Mistral II's crew encountered dangers and hazards not generally faced by today's competitors, without life rafts, radios and no propeller that was deliberately removed. At one point there were death-defying moments where Mistral II came terrifying close to being smashed against the tremendous cliffs of Tasman Island. Blue Water Warriors chronicles the fierce rivalry between Mistral II and Morna, at that time the most famous yachts in Australia, and tells of more relaxed times on the return voyages to Sydney.

FINDING PAX: ONE WOMAN'S JOURNEY FOR THE LOVE OF HER WOODEN BOAT

CRONKHITE 29985

In 1936, on the island Denmark where the oldest oak tree in Europe grows, a lone boat builder nicknamed the perfectionist crafted a boat with his hands. 70 years later in Port Townsend, Washington just minutes after a near catastrophe was averted in the marina outside her office window a woman opened an email. A Danish spidsgatter named Pax was for sale in Victoria, British Columbia. Around-the-world sailor, writer, and traveller Kaci Cronkhite knew better than to buy a wooden boat. But in 2007 smitten by the buxom curves of Pax and inspired by a life in the wind she did. The mystery of the journey that brought the two together became a quest that connected families in three countries with history that had been lost. What Kaci didn't know – what no one knew – was where and how far Pax had journeyed, what she survived those seven decades and what those who loved her would always remember.

HISTORY

SOUTH: THE ILLUSTRATED STORY OF SHACKLETON'S LAST EXPEDITION 1914-1917

SHACKLETON 81775

Now in paperback to coincide with the 100th anniversary of the original publication and including images discovered in Antarctica in 2013! In 1914, the polar explorer Ernest Shackleton announced an ambitious plan to lead the first trek across Antarctica via the South Pole. The expedition would prove fraught with adventure – and peril. South is the remarkable tale of the ill-fated expedition, told in Shackleton's own words.

FRANK HURLEY: A PHOTOGRAPHER'S LIFE

MCGREGOR 3188

Photographer, filmmaker, writer, adventurer. Controversial, passionate, audacious. Frank Hurley was an extraordinary Australian, possibly most famous for his Antarctic photographs captured alongside expeditioners Sir Douglas Mawson and Sir Ernest Shackleton. This book and the Hurley Collection in the National Library of Australia make clear this outstanding contribution and the lengths to which the man would go in order to convey the gravity of events.

EXPLORING THE BRITANNIC: THE LIFE, LAST VOYAGE AND WRECK OF TITANIC'S TRAGIC TWIN

MILLS 27985

Launched in 1914, two years after the ill-fated voyage of her sister ship, RMS Titanic, the Britannic was intended to be superior in every way. But war intervened and in 1915 she was requisitioned as a hospital ship. Just one year later, while on her way to collect troops wounded in the Balkans campaign, she fell victim to a mine laid by a German U-boat and tragically sank in the middle of the Aegean Sea.

TASMANIA'S FORGOTTEN FRONTIER

BESWICK 85983

Five years before the well documented settlement of the Derwent estuary, sealers established semi-permanent settlements on the islands off the North East Coast and began an industry that was to have far reaching consequences. Forgotten Frontier also tells the story of the settlers who braved the remoteness on this remote region to establish long term grazing ventures.

GUARDIANS OF THE PORT: HOBART'S COLONIAL PILOTS

SMYTHE 34165

Colonial pilots were important members of the often isolated communities, with hospitality and assistance being both expected and offered. Their story is also that of the development of the port and its shipping, the social life of the time and the changing form of shipping that arrived and goods that left.

SHIPWRECKS OF THE P&O LINE

WARWICK AND ROUSSEL 79777

The rich history of the P&O Line began in the 1830s when steam power was still in its infancy, and this, coupled with longer voyages, meant that shipwrecks became inevitable – all part of the risk of running a pioneer shipping company at that time. Shipwrecks of the P&O Line explores these losses, starting with the inaugural mail service sailing of the wooden paddle steamer Don Juan, which ran aground in fog in 1837, and ending 120 years later with the cargo liner Shillong (2), which sank following a collision in the Red Sea in 1957.

THE UNION-CASTLE LINE: SAILING LIKE CLOCKWORK

WARWICK AND ROUSSEL 9144

This book charts the history of the British shipping company, the Union-Castle Line. Carrying mail, passengers and cargo between the UK and South Africa, the line began in the middle of the 19th century and ran until its demise in 1977, a victim of emerging competition from jet aircraft, increasing fuel costs and containerization of cargo. This volume investigates the requisition and use of the company vessels for military transportation, identifying the war losses in both World Wars, and includes a review of Union-Castle shipwrecks and some examples of wrecks that have been dived.

READING THE CLOUDS

PERKINS 6890

An at-a-glance guide to the clouds for anyone taking part in outdoor activities on land or at sea, anywhere in the world. This book is an accessible and practical handbook for predicting the weather by recognizing cloud types, shapes, color, and behavior. But to get an idea of how the weather will develop for the precise spot where you're standing (or walking, sailing, golfing, fishing, etc) you don't need any equipment or any in-depth scientific understanding. You just need to look up. With this book in hand, you will get a broad understanding of why the clouds are symptoms of weather patterns, not causes.

200,000 MILES – A LIFE OF ADVENTURE

CORNELL 89885

200,000 Miles deals with all essential aspects of offshore voyaging and long distance cruising. Every subject is dealt with in an informative and entertaining manner, backed up by telling incidents or anecdotes from the author's wide-ranging experience. While primarily aimed at sailors who are planning or making preparations for a longer voyage, this book will also appeal to tested ocean navigators as well as weekend sailors. Approximately two thirds of the book deals with practical matters and covers all subjects of interest to anyone planning to leave on an offshore voyage. The other third of the book describes highlights from the author's circumnavigations as well as voyages to Antarctica, a transpacific passage from Antarctica to Alaska, or the challenges of the Northwest Passage.
